

Team Name

Score

www.woodenspoonquizzes.co.uk

Pub Quiz #395

2000s #2

1. He now uses his real name but, In 2001, he revived 'Blankety Blank' as the new host and drag queen _____?
2. In 2003, he spent 44 days suspended in a box. Although he had had eggs and burgers thrown at him, Who was the illusionist that refused to eat solid foods for the whole duration?
3. August 2004 saw the flotation on the stock market of which top internet company?
4. Since 2000, which super-bug has been haunting British Hospitals?
5. In 2002, Heather Mills shocked a CNN TV audience by doing what, whilst promoting a book?
6. March 2005 saw the death of which 68-year-old controversial Irish Comedian?
7. Which popular chocolate lost its familiar cylindrical packaging in 2005, much to the disappointment of fans?
8. In a survey conducted in 2005, what was the most popular brand name on the internet. A Californian company that was founded a decade earlier in 1995?
9. 'The Slag of Snacks' was the advertising tagline used in 2002 for which snack, a tagline that had to be removed by Unilever, who made the product following complaints?
10. Apple had success in 2001, when it released the _____. Its first new century gadget?

Pub Quiz #395

2000s #2

1. He now uses his real name but, In 2001, he revived 'Blankety Blank' as the new host and drag queen _____?

Lily Savage

2. In 2003, he spent 44 days suspended in a box. Although he had had eggs and burgers thrown at him, Who was the illusionist that refused to eat solid foods for the whole duration?

David Blaine

3. August 2004 saw the flotation on the stock market of which top internet company?

Google

4. Since 2000, which super-bug has been haunting British Hospitals?

MRSA

5. In 2002, Heather Mills shocked a CNN TV audience by doing what, whilst promoting a book?

She removed her artificial leg and handed it to the host

6. March 2005 saw the death of which 68-year-old controversial Irish Comedian?

Dave Allen

7. Which popular chocolate lost its familiar cylindrical packaging in 2005, much to the disappointment of fans?

Smarties

8. In a survey conducted in 2005, what was the most popular brand name on the internet. A Californian company that was founded a decade earlier in 1995?

eBay

9. 'The Slag of Snacks' was the advertising tagline used in 2002 for which snack, a tagline that had to be removed by Unilever, who made the product following complaints?

Pot Noodles

10. Apple had success in 2001, when it released the _____. Its first new century gadget?

iPod

