

Manhunter (1986)

Question	Answer	Did You Know?
What is Will Graham's former profession?	Former FBI criminal profiler	 Manhunter was the first film adaptation of a Hannibal Lecter novel, released five years before The Silence of the Lambs.
Why did Will Graham retire from the FBI?	He had a mental breakdown after being attacked	 Hannibal is named "Lecktor" in this version, with Brian Cox portraying him in a subtler, more clinical style than later versions.
Who attacked Will Graham before his retirement?	Dr. Hannibal Lecktor	 William Petersen plays Will Graham, a role he took very seriously, even visiting psychiatric hospitals for research.
Who asks Graham to come out of retirement?	Jack Crawford	 Director Michael Mann used bold color schemes—cool blues and greens for Graham, deep reds for the killer—to reflect psychological states.
In what U.S. state does Graham live at the beginning of the story?	Florida	 The Tooth Fairy killer, Francis Dollarhyde, was inspired by real-life criminal profiling cases studied by author Thomas Harris.
What is the serial killer nicknamed by the police?	The Tooth Fairy	 Home video footage is used to show Dollarhyde's twisted view of his victims, creating an unsettling sense of voyeurism.
Why is the killer called the "Tooth Fairy"?	He leaves bite marks on his victims	 The film is based on Thomas Harris's 1981 novel Red Dragon, the first in the Hannibal Lecter series.
Where is the most recent crime scene located?	Atlanta, Georgia	 Freddy Lounds's fiery death in a wheelchair was adapted directly from the novel with disturbing accuracy.

What evidence does Graham find at the crime scene?	The killer's fingerprints	💡 The original title, Red Dragon, was changed to avoid confusion with martial arts films and to market it more as a thriller.
Who is Freddy Lounds?	A tabloid journalist	🧠 Brian Cox based his performance on real serial killer Peter Manuel, incorporating a composed, detached manner.
Where does Graham visit Hannibal Lecter?	In his prison cell	🎬 Manhunter was the first film adaptation of a Hannibal Lecter novel, released five years before The Silence of the Lambs.
What profession did Lecter have before being imprisoned?	Psychiatrist	🎭 Hannibal is named "Lecter" in this version, with Brian Cox portraying him in a subtler, more clinical style than later versions.
How does Lecter obtain Graham's home address?	By pretending to call his attorney and deceiving the staff	💻 The film presents FBI profiling and forensic psychology as serious investigative tools—years before they became mainstream on TV.
Where is the first murder site Graham visits?	Birmingham, Alabama	🧩 Will Graham's method of "becoming" the killer was one of the first serious depictions of empathic profiling in film.
Who finds a note in Lecter's cell?	Frederick Chilton	🎵 The synth-heavy soundtrack by The Reds and Michel Rubini adds to the film's cold, haunting atmosphere.
Who is the note from?	The Tooth Fairy (Francis Dollarhyde)	🔄 Manhunter was remade in 2002 under its original title Red Dragon, starring Edward Norton and Anthony Hopkins.
What does the note express about the Tooth Fairy's view of Lecter?	Admiration for Lecter and interest in Graham	🕷️ Francis Dollarhyde's obsession with transformation is inspired by William Blake's painting The Great Red Dragon and the Woman Clothed in Sun.

What method of communication do Lecktor and the Tooth Fairy use?	Through the personals section of a newspaper	 Michael Mann's background in Miami Vice influenced the film's highly stylized look and procedural rhythm.
What newspaper is used for their communication?	The National Tattler	 Dollarhyde was portrayed by Tom Noonan, who remained in character off-camera to heighten tension on set.
What do the FBI decide to plant in the newspaper?	A fake coded message/ad	 The suburban settings of the murders enhanced the story's realism—violence hiding in ordinary places.
Why do they choose to publish the ad unaltered?	They lack the correct codebook; the killer would recognize it as fake	 Despite lukewarm box office results, the film gained cult status and is now considered a genre-defining psychological thriller.
What plan does Graham devise to provoke the killer?	Gives Lounds a false profile of the killer to enrage him	 William Petersen returned to stage acting after filming, saying the role of Graham left him emotionally drained.
What happens to Lounds after he interviews Graham?	He is kidnapped by the Tooth Fairy	 The film presents FBI profiling and forensic psychology as serious investigative tools—years before they became mainstream on TV.
How is Lounds murdered?	Set on fire in a wheelchair and rolled into a parking garage	 Will Graham's method of "becoming" the killer was one of the first serious depictions of empathic profiling in film.
What message does the killer send through Lounds's death?	A threat and warning to the FBI and Graham	 Tom Noonan asked the cast and crew to avoid speaking with him during production to preserve his character's eerie presence.
What does the FBI decode in Lecktor's hidden message?	Graham's home address with a kill order	 Hannibal Lecktor's cell was designed to feel cold and clinical, reinforcing his emotionally removed nature.
Who is the killer instructed to target next?	Will Graham and his family	 The film was one of the first to portray criminal profiling as a legitimate FBI method rather than pseudoscience.

Where is Graham's family moved for protection?	A safe house	 Wide-angle lenses were used throughout the film to create a feeling of surveillance and psychological distance.
Who is Kevin?	Graham's son	 The use of early computer analysis and photo enhancement added technical realism rarely seen in thrillers at the time.
What city does Francis Dollarhyde work in?	St. Louis	 Actors were trained in real forensic procedures, including fingerprint dusting and evidence handling.
What is Dollarhyde's job?	Film lab technician	 The moment Graham crashes through a window to stop Dollarhyde was filmed in a single, continuous take.
Who is Reba McClane?	A blind co-worker of Dollarhyde	 Dollarhyde's fractured psyche is conveyed through visuals and silence—without inner monologues or narration.
What is Reba unaware of when she visits Dollarhyde's home?	He's watching home videos of his intended victims	 Michael Mann consulted real FBI profilers and behavioral analysts to ensure authenticity in the investigation scenes.
What triggers Dollarhyde's rage and murder of a co-worker?	Seeing Reba with another man	 The climactic shootout is uniquely scored to Iron Butterfly's "In-A-Gadda-Da-Vida," blending music and violence operatically.
How does Graham determine how Dollarhyde chose his victims?	Realizes the killer saw the families' home videos from the film lab	 Tom Noonan asked the cast and crew to avoid speaking with him during production to preserve his character's eerie presence.
How does the final confrontation at Dollarhyde's home end?	Graham kills Dollarhyde after a violent confrontation	 Hannibal Lecter's cell was designed to feel cold and clinical, reinforcing his emotionally removed nature.

The Silence of the Lambs (1991)

Who recruits Clarice Starling to interview Dr. Hannibal Lecter?	Jack Crawford	🏆 The Silence of the Lambs is one of only three films in history to win the "Big Five" Academy Awards: Best Picture, Best Director, Best Actor, Best Actress, and Best Adapted Screenplay.
What is Hannibal Lecter's profession before imprisonment?	Psychiatrist	🕒 Anthony Hopkins is on screen for just under 17 minutes, yet he won the Oscar for Best Actor—one of the shortest performances to ever earn that award.
What is the name of the serial killer that Starling is trying to catch?	Buffalo Bill	🧠 The character of Hannibal Lecter is based partly on real-life doctor Alfredo Ballí Treviño, whom author Thomas Harris interviewed while working as a journalist in Mexico.
What gruesome act does Buffalo Bill perform on his victims?	Removes the skin from his victims	😱 Jodie Foster has said that she was genuinely afraid of Anthony Hopkins during filming and avoided speaking to him off-camera.
Who is the manipulative director of the Baltimore State Hospital?	Dr. Frederick Chilton	🦋 The death's-head moth featured in the film was actually a combination of multiple insect species—and some were even dyed to achieve the eerie effect.
What does inmate Miggs throw at Clarice Starling?	Semen	📖 The film is based on Thomas Harris's 1988 novel of the same name and is the second book in the Hannibal Lecter series.
What clue does Lecter give Starling to help in the investigation?	An anagram leading to a storage unit	🗨️ The line "I ate his liver with some fava beans and a nice Chianti" was mostly improvised by Anthony Hopkins—and he added the unsettling slurping noise spontaneously.

Whose severed head is found in the storage unit?	Benjamin Raspail	 Real moths were used in some scenes, while others used puppet moths controlled with threads or air tubes for close-up shots.
How does Miggs die?	Swallowed his own tongue	 Lecter's escape scene was choreographed to be as operatic and elegant as it was terrifying, combining classical music with brutal violence.
What does Lecter want in exchange for helping the investigation?	A transfer away from Chilton	 The iconic scene where Lecter and Clarice first meet is shot with tight close-ups and direct eye contact, creating discomfort and intensity.
What symbolic insect is found in the throat of one of Buffalo Bill's victims?	Death's-head moth	 The Silence of the Lambs is one of only three films in history to win the "Big Five" Academy Awards: Best Picture, Best Director, Best Actor, Best Actress, and Best Adapted Screenplay.
Who is Catherine Martin related to?	U.S. Senator Ruth Martin	 Anthony Hopkins is on screen for just under 17 minutes, yet he won the Oscar for Best Actor—one of the shortest performances to ever earn that award.
What fake offer does Starling make to Lecter to get information?	A fake prison transfer deal	 Scott Glenn, who played Jack Crawford, spent time with real FBI agents—including famed profiler John Douglas—to prepare for the role.
What personal detail does Lecter extract from Starling during their conversation?	That her father was a police officer who was murdered when she was ten	 Director Jonathan Demme used a point-of-view shooting style where characters often stare directly into the camera during conversations, immersing viewers in Clarice's perspective.
What does Lecter reveal about Buffalo Bill's gender identity?	He believes he is a transsexual but is not genuinely one	 The line "It puts the lotion on its skin" by Buffalo Bill became one of the most quoted and parodied lines in film history.

Who secretly records Starling's conversation with Lecter?	Dr. Frederick Chilton	 The FBI cooperated with the production, hoping that Clarice Starling's portrayal would inspire more women to join law enforcement.
To which state is Lecter transferred during the investigation?	Tennessee (Memphis)	 The film was shot in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, with many of the key interior sets—like Lecter's cell—constructed in a warehouse.
What false name does Lecter give to Senator Martin to describe Buffalo Bill?	Louis Friend	 Buffalo Bill's infamous dance scene to "Goodbye Horses" by Q Lazzarus was largely improvised and became a cultural touchstone.
What does Starling discover about the name "Louis Friend"?	It is an anagram for iron sulfide (fool's gold)	 Lecter's cell was inspired by the idea of a glass cage from Dracula films—though production eventually opted for bars and spotlighting for theatricality.
What childhood trauma does Starling reveal to Lecter?	Failing to save spring lambs from slaughter on a Montana farm	 The film was released on Valentine's Day 1991, an ironic contrast to its dark and disturbing subject matter.
What final clue does Lecter give Starling before returning the case files?	"We covet what we see every day"	 The title The Silence of the Lambs refers to Clarice's childhood trauma, where she heard lambs screaming as they were being slaughtered—a metaphor for innocence lost.
How does Lecter manage to escape custody?	Uses a pen to unlock restraints, kills guards, and escapes disguised in a guard's face	 Gene Hackman originally purchased the rights to the novel and intended to direct and star as Jack Crawford, but dropped out due to concerns over the story's violence.
What disguise does Lecter use to fool the paramedics during his escape?	Wearing the face of one of the guards	 Scott Glenn, who played Jack Crawford, spent time with real FBI agents—including famed profiler John Douglas—to prepare for the role.

What does Starling deduce about Buffalo Bill's first victim?	That she was a tailor from Ohio named Frederika Bimmel	🎥 Director Jonathan Demme used a point-of-view shooting style where characters often stare directly into the camera during conversations, immersing viewers in Clarice's perspective.
What is Buffalo Bill trying to create from his victims?	A "suit" made from human skin	💡 Anthony Hopkins said he based part of Lecter's voice and demeanor on HAL 9000, the soft-spoken computer from 2001: A Space Odyssey.
How does Crawford's team identify Jame Gumb as a suspect?	By cross-referencing Lecter's profile with sex-reassignment clinic and offender records	🎨 The film's color palette was intentionally muted and clinical—especially in scenes at the Baltimore State Hospital—to heighten psychological unease.
What alias does Jame Gumb use when Starling visits his house?	Jack Gordon	👤 Actor Ted Levine (Buffalo Bill) avoided publicity for a time after the film's release because fans confused his role with his real personality.
What clue causes Starling to suspect the man posing as Jack Gordon?	Spotting a death's-head moth	🖼️ The film's poster—with a skull-like death's-head moth over Jodie Foster's face—was inspired by a Salvador Dalí artwork composed of naked women.
Where does Starling find Catherine Martin?	In a dry well in Gumb's basement	🎬 Director Jonathan Demme insisted that Hannibal Lecter never blink on camera, contributing to his unsettling presence.
How does Starling kill Jame Gumb?	Fires blindly, killing him	🧠 Hopkins memorized the entire script—including other characters' lines—so he could maintain control and pacing during scenes.
What significant event happens to Starling at the end of the story?	She graduates from the FBI Academy	🔗 Lecter's iconic straightjacket-and-mask look wasn't in the book but was created by the filmmakers to visualize the danger he posed even in custody.

What question does Lecter ask Starling during his phone call at her graduation?	"Have the lambs stopped screaming?"	 The autopsy scene with Clarice was shot in a real morgue, using actors and cadaver props to maintain realism.
What does Lecter mean by "having an old friend for dinner"?	Lecter is about to eat Dr. Chilton	 The haunting score was composed by Howard Shore, who would later become known for his work on The Lord of the Rings trilogy.
What does Starling refuse to do when Lecter makes a request during the phone call?	She refuses to "return the favor" of pursuing him	 The film emphasizes Clarice's emotional journey and trauma rather than focusing solely on the killer—unusual for thrillers of its time.
Who is the Behavioral Science Unit chief at the FBI?	Jack Crawford	 Anthony Hopkins said he based part of Lecter's voice and demeanor on HAL 9000, the soft-spoken computer from 2001: A Space Odyssey.
What city is the Baltimore State Hospital located in?	Baltimore	 The film's color palette was intentionally muted and clinical—especially in scenes at the Baltimore State Hospital—to heighten psychological unease.

Hannibal (2001)

What event caused Clarice Starling to be blamed and disgraced at the beginning of the story?	A botched drug raid that resulted in five deaths.	 Anthony Hopkins initially declined to return as Hannibal Lecter but changed his mind after reading the screenplay.
Who is Mason Verger in relation to Hannibal Lecter?	He is Hannibal Lecter's only surviving victim.	 The film is based on Thomas Harris's 1999 novel Hannibal, which caused controversy due to its graphic violence and disturbing content.
What condition is Mason Verger in, and why?	Paralyzed and disfigured by Lecter.	 Jodie Foster declined to reprise her role as Clarice Starling due to disagreements with the novel's portrayal of her character.
What is Mason Verger's main goal involving Hannibal Lecter?	To torture and kill Hannibal Lecter.	 Julianne Moore replaced Jodie Foster as Clarice Starling and researched the role by training with the FBI.
Which government official aids Mason Verger, and what is his motivation?	Paul Krendler, a corrupt Justice Department official upset that Starling rejected him.	 Ridley Scott directed the film, replacing Jonathan Demme, who directed The Silence of the Lambs and also declined to return.
Where is Hannibal Lecter hiding during the events of this story?	Florence, Italy.	 The infamous dinner scene where Lecter feeds Krendler part of his own brain is one of the most remembered scenes in horror history.
Under what false identity is Hannibal Lecter living?	Library curator named "Dr. Fell."	 Special effects team used a realistic animatronic head of Ray Liotta (Krendler) for the brain removal scene.
How is Lecter's location discovered?	Through a perfume expert identifying a fragrance on a letter Lecter sent.	 The hanging and disembowelment of Inspector Pazzi mirrors the historic execution of Francesco Pazzi in 15th-century Florence.
What role does the perfume expert play in the story?	Identifies the unique skin cream fragrance that leads to Lecter's location.	 The scenes in Florence were shot on location, including at the Palazzo Vecchio, adding historical weight to the film.

What does Paul Krendler do to try to influence Clarice Starling?	He sexually propositions Clarice and tries to save her career in exchange.	 Lecter's alias "Dr. Fell" is a reference to an old English nursery rhyme about a suspicious and disliked doctor.
Who is Rinaldo Pazzi, and what does he do?	A Florentine policeman who tries to capture Lecter to claim a bounty.	 The man-eating boars were inspired by real legends of feral swine being used for torture in ancient history.
What happens to Rinaldo Pazzi after he tries to capture Lecter?	Lecter disembowels him and hangs him from a balcony.	 Mason Verger's character is a wealthy, politically protected child molester, making him arguably more horrifying than Lecter.
How does Mason Verger use his influence to affect Clarice Starling's career?	Bribes Krendler to frame her for hiding evidence.	 The boar scenes were a combination of real pigs and animatronics, trained for months before shooting.
Where does Lecter summon Clarice Starling?	Washington Union Station.	 The perfume clue Lecter leaves is a nod to his refined taste and meticulous detail, a consistent trait in all his appearances.
What happens to Lecter after Verger's men track Clarice?	He is captured by Mason Verger's men.	 Lecter's handwritten letter to Clarice was actually written by Anthony Hopkins himself in character.
What is Mason Verger's plan for Lecter at his estate?	To feed Lecter alive to wild boars bred for that purpose.	 The plotline of Verger bribing government officials reflects real-world political corruption themes subtly woven into the film.
How does Clarice Starling respond to Verger's plan for Lecter?	She infiltrates the estate to rescue Lecter.	 The film's visual tone is significantly more gothic and operatic than its predecessor, aligning with Ridley Scott's aesthetic.
Who shoots Clarice during her rescue attempt?	A guard at Verger's estate shoots her.	 The scenes involving forensic science and brain surgery were advised by medical professionals to ensure realism.
What happens to the guards at Verger's estate?	They are devoured by the wild boars.	 Lecter's final line in the movie, "Try new things," is a darkly humorous play on the idea of expanding one's palate.

Who is Cordell and what role does he play?	Verger's physician, who dislikes Verger.	 The final airplane scene was controversial for its blend of black comedy and horror.
What happens to Mason Verger at the end?	He is shoved into the boar pen and eaten alive.	 The child in the airplane scene represents innocence contrasted with Lecter's darkness, adding thematic weight.
How does Lecter help Clarice after the boar pen incident?	Lecter carries her to safety.	 Lecter wears a custom-made European watch, one of many luxury items used to reinforce his cultured persona.
Where does Clarice wake up after being injured?	In Paul Krendler's home.	 The film uses motifs of transformation and consumption, not just physically but psychologically.
What unusual clothing is Clarice wearing when she wakes up?	A cocktail dress unfamiliar to her	 The cocktail dress Clarice wears when she wakes up was custom-designed to reflect a blend of vulnerability and formality.
What is Lecter preparing when Clarice wakes?	An elegant dinner.	 The disturbing elements in both the book and film led some countries to heavily censor or ban the movie.
What insults does Paul Krendler direct at Clarice?	Misogynistic insults.	 The perfume clue is tied to Lecter's obsession with scent and memory, a recurring theme in the Hannibal series.
What insults Lecter's cooking?	Paul Krendler	 Lecter's cleaver in the final scene symbolizes both surgical precision and brutal violence.
What does Lecter do to Paul Krendler?	Opens Krendler's skull, removes part of his brain, sautées it, and feeds it to him.	 The sequence of Krendler eating his own brain was toned down from the novel to avoid an NC-17 rating.
How does Clarice react to Lecter's act against Krendler?	She is horrified.	 Hans Zimmer composed the score, which included operatic influences and classical elements to match the film's tone.

What happens when Clarice tries to fight Lecter?	Lecter overpowers her and kisses her.	 Despite mixed reviews, Hannibal was a box office success, grossing over $350 million worldwide.
What does Clarice do to prevent Lecter from harming her?	She handcuffs their wrists together.
What happens as the police arrive?	Lecter raises a cleaver over her wrist; the scene cuts as police arrive.
How is Lecter's arm injured?	From a gunshot wound inflicted during the rescue attempt.
What does Lecter feed the boy on the flight?	Part of Krendler's brain.
What phrase does Lecter say while sharing food with the boy?	"Try new things."
What theme does the phrase "try new things" relate to in the film?	The theme of experimenting and exploring beyond limits, including taboo and transformation.

Red Dragon (2002)

In what year does FBI agent Will Graham first visit Hannibal Lecter?	1980	 Edward Norton plays FBI profiler Will Graham, who seeks Lecter's help to catch the "Tooth Fairy."
What is Hannibal Lecter's profession?	Forensic psychiatrist	 Ralph Fiennes stars as the terrifying "Tooth Fairy" killer, Francis Dolarhyde.
What type of criminal case is Will Graham working on when he consults Lecter?	Serial killer case	 The film explores the psychological battle between hunter and hunted.
What specific evidence leads Graham to suspect Lecter is the killer?	A bookmarked sweetbreads recipe with organs taken from victims	 The title refers to the William Blake painting The Great Red Dragon and the Woman Clothed with the Sun, central to the killer's obsession.
How does Lecter attack Graham during their confrontation?	Lecter stabs Graham	 Brett Ratner, director of Rush Hour, directed Red Dragon.
What weapon does Graham use to defend himself against Lecter?	Graham stabs Lecter with arrowheads and shoots him	 The movie is praised for its tense atmosphere and psychological depth.
What is the verdict in Lecter's trial?	Not guilty by reason of insanity	 It's the first film to show Lecter before the events of The Silence of the Lambs.
Where is Lecter imprisoned after the trial?	Institution for the criminally insane	 Red Dragon is a prequel to The Silence of the Lambs and the third film featuring Hannibal Lecter.
What does Graham do after his traumatic experience with Lecter?	Retires to Florida with his family	 Red Dragon grossed over $209 million worldwide.
What nickname is given to the new serial killer who emerges years later?	The Tooth Fairy	 Edward Norton researched FBI profiling techniques to prepare for his role as Will Graham.
How many families has the "Tooth Fairy" murdered at the start of the new investigation?	Two families (the Jacobis and the Leedses)	 The nickname "Tooth Fairy" comes from Dolarhyde's brutal bite marks on his victims.

What is the common timing related to the murders committed by the Tooth Fairy?	Murders occur during full moons	🌿 The film includes several references to The Silence of the Lambs , tying the stories together.
Who persuades Will Graham to return to work on the new case?	Special agent Jack Crawford	🖼️ The Blake painting featured in the film is a real artwork housed at the Brooklyn Museum.
What reason does Graham give for consulting Lecter again?	The Tooth Fairy has "no face" and no clear victim selection pattern	💔 Reba McClane's blindness is symbolic of Dolarhyde's struggle to connect with the world.
What is the real name of the Tooth Fairy?	Francis Dolarhyde	📰 Freddy Lounds was inspired by real-life tabloid journalists.
What painting inspires the Tooth Fairy's alternate personality?	The William Blake painting "The Great Red Dragon and the Woman Clothed with the Sun"	👁️ Close-up shots of eyes are used throughout the film to emphasize psychological insight.
What is the name of the Tooth Fairy's alternate personality?	The Great Red Dragon	🏆 Ralph Fiennes' performance as Dolarhyde was critically acclaimed despite mixed reviews of the film.
Where is the painting that inspires the Tooth Fairy located?	Brooklyn Museum	🎭 The film explores the psychological toll of violence on both victims and perpetrators.
What tattoo does the Tooth Fairy have on his back?	A tattoo of the Great Red Dragon and the Woman Clothed with the Sun
What is the source of the Tooth Fairy's psychopathology?	Childhood abuse by his grandmother
Where is the letter from the Tooth Fairy found?	In Lecter's prison cell
What does the Tooth Fairy's letter to Lecter express?	Admiration for Lecter and suggestion to reply through the personals section of the National Tattler
Who deciphers Lecter's reply to the Tooth Fairy?	Lloyd Bowman
What crucial information is revealed in Lecter's reply?	Will Graham's home address
What does Graham do to lure out the Tooth Fairy?	Gives a disparaging interview to Freddy Lounds about the killer

Who is Freddy Lounds?	A reporter for the National Tattler
How does the Tooth Fairy punish Freddy Lounds?	Kidnaps him, glues him to a wheelchair, forces a recantation, and burns him alive
Where does Francis Dolarhyde work?	Chromalux, a home video conversion business in St. Louis
Who is Reba McClane?	A blind co-worker at Chromalux
What disability does Reba McClane have?	Blindness
What does Dolarhyde do to the Blake painting at the Brooklyn Museum?	Tears it apart and eats it
How does Graham realize the Tooth Fairy must be a Chromalux employee?	Because the killer knew the victims' house layouts from home videos
Who does Dolarhyde kill at Chromalux?	Ralph Mandy
How does Dolarhyde's relationship with Reba end?	Dolarhyde kidnaps her, sets his house on fire, tries to kill her but fails; she escapes
How is Dolarhyde's staged death discovered?	Autopsy reveals Ralph Mandy's body was used to fake Dolarhyde's death
How does the final confrontation between Graham and Dolarhyde end?	Graham and Dolarhyde shoot each other; Dolarhyde is finally killed by Molly Graham
