

Crafted with care.... Stirred to Perfection

1. Female elephants have a more complex communication style, but males can still understand them.
2. The jewel beetle can detect fires from over 50 miles away using a heat sensor under one of its legs.
3. Mountain goats butt heads so hard that their hooves can fall off.
4. The giant armadillo has nine-inch claws and over 100 teeth.
5. Elephants are afraid of bees.
6. An Asian elephant named Batyr learnt over 20 phrases, including "Batyr is hungry" and even some swear words.
7. A male spider's reproductive organs are located at the end of one of its legs.
8. The cartoon Road Runner looks more like an ostrich than a real roadrunner.
9. Turkeys can blush when they're scared or excited.
10. Each Holstein-Friesian cow has a unique spot pattern, like a fingerprint.
11. Penguins are flightless birds, but they're just one of over 60 flightless bird species.
12. Cattle can smell things six miles away, hear beyond human range, and are colour-blind to red.
13. Cows lying down means it's going to rain.
14. Cows have nearly 360-degree vision and can walk upstairs but struggle going down.
15. A snail has over 15,000 teeth.

QUIZMASTER

True or False

Animals #3

Wooden Spoon Quizzes

Questions

Answers

One for the Bar!

1. Female elephants have a more complex communication style, but males can still understand them.
2. The jewel beetle can detect fires from over 50 miles away using a heat sensor under one of its legs.
3. Mountain goats butt heads so hard that their hooves can fall off.
4. The giant armadillo has nine-inch claws and over 100 teeth.
5. Elephants are afraid of bees.
6. An Asian elephant named Batyr learnt over 20 phrases, including "Batyr is hungry" and even some swear words.
7. A male spider's reproductive organs are located at the end of one of its legs.
8. The cartoon Road Runner looks more like an ostrich than a real roadrunner.
9. Turkeys can blush when they're scared or excited.
10. Each Holstein-Friesian cow has a unique spot pattern, like a fingerprint.
11. Penguins are flightless birds, but they're just one of over 60 flightless bird species.
12. Cattle can smell things six miles away, hear beyond human range, and are colour-blind to red.
13. Cows lying down means it's going to rain.
14. Cows have nearly 360-degree vision and can walk upstairs but struggle going down.
15. A snail has over 15,000 teeth.

1. False
2. True
3. False
4. True
5. True
6. True
7. False
8. True
9. True
10. True
11. True
12. True
13. False
14. True
15. True

1. 🐘 Elephants use individual rumbles to communicate, but males and females understand each other well.
2. 🔥 Jewel beetles detect distant fires using heat sensors on their legs to find burnt trees.
3. 🐐 Mountain goats have tough hooves that don't fall off during their headbutting battles.
4. 🦨 Giant armadillos have the most teeth of any land mammal and giant claws for digging.
5. 🐝 Elephants avoid bees, and some farmers use beehive fences to keep them away.
6. 🐘 Batyr, the Asian elephant, could mimic human speech and even swear words!
7. 🕷️ Male spiders use special pedipalps near their mouths, not legs, for reproduction.
8. 🐓 Real roadrunners are smaller and sleeker than the cartoon, which resembles an ostrich.
9. 🦃 Turkeys change colour on their heads when excited or scared.
10. 🐮 Each Holstein cow's spot pattern is unique, like a fingerprint.
11. 🐧 Besides penguins, many other birds like ostriches and kiwis can't fly.
12. 🐃 Bulls are colour-blind to red and charge based on movement, not colour.
13. 🐮 Cows lie down to rest or chew cud, not to predict rain.
14. 👁️ Cows have nearly 360-degree vision and find going downstairs difficult.
15. 🐌 Snails have thousands of tiny teeth on a ribbon-like tongue called a radula.

