ONE FOR THE BAR!

1. 🗣️ Emeli Sandé's Clown became one of those songs people dramatically sing after two glasses of wine and a minor inconvenience.
2. ❤️ Christina Perri's Jar of Hearts was reportedly inspired by a toxic relationship — and probably a few bad text messages too.
3. 🎵 Whole Again became such a karaoke staple that half the pub probably still knows the dance routine.
4. 🏆 Sam Bailey released Skyscraper just weeks after winning The X Factor in 2013.
5. 📖 Stevie Wonder was only 13 when he topped the US charts — most people that age are still struggling with homework.
6. 🎤 The Cheeky Girls were discovered after appearing on Popstars: The Rivals despite not actually making the group.
7. 🎶 The Birdie Song is still capable of filling dancefloors and emptying dignity levels in equal measure.
8. 🌟 Post Malone originally chose his stage surname using a rap-name generator online.
9. 🗣️ LS Lowry reportedly disliked the term "matchstalk men" even though the song made it famous worldwide.
10. 👑 Madonna's chart career has stretched across more than four decades — longer than some pub carpets.
11. 🎵 Rain On Me won the Grammy for Best Pop Duo/Group Performance in 2021.
12. ❤️ Annie Lennox and Al Green revived the song for the film Scrooged, proving Christmas films love a power duet.
