| 9. "Max has dumped me five times ... and I've won her back every single freaking time."   | 19. "I may be a pretty sh*tty boyfriend, but turns out I'm actually a pretty damn good babysitter."   |
| 10. "I'm just going to stop assuming that I know anything."   | 20. "How do I know if it's not a lizard? ... Because his face opened up and he ate my cat."   |

ONE FOR THE BAR!

12 DID YOU KNOWS! ABOUT

STRANGER THINGS

1

The kids' love of Dungeons & Dragons inspired many of the creature names in Stranger Things – including the Demogorgon, Mind Flayer and Vecna.

2

The show's creators, the Duffer Brothers, were heavily inspired by 1980s classics like E.T., The Goonies and Stand By Me.

3

Kate Bush's 1985 song "Running Up That Hill" returned to charts around the world thanks to Max's storyline in Season 4.

4

Eleven was originally planned to speak far less in Season 1, but Millie Bobby Brown's performance led writers to expand the character.

5

Eggo waffles became globally associated with Eleven after the show's release – boosting real-life sales of the brand.

6

The Hellfire Club seen in Season 4 was inspired by real-life high school Dungeons & Dragons clubs from the 1980s.

7

The famous alphabet wall scene used practical Christmas lights on set rather than relying entirely on CGI effects.

8

Starcourt Mall in Season 3 was filmed inside a real abandoned shopping centre in Georgia, USA.

9

Vecna's terrifying appearance relied heavily on practical makeup effects, with actor Jamie Campbell Bower spending hours in prosthetics.

10

The role of Steve Harrington was originally intended to be much smaller, but writers expanded it after loving Joe Keery's performance.

11

Every season of the show takes place in a different year of the 1980s, helping reflect changing music, fashion and pop culture.

12

The Upside Down was partly inspired by the idea of a dark "parallel dimension", hidden beneath everyday suburban America.
