

1 In Doctor Who, the Doctor's famous blue police box is officially a TARDIS — but what does the "T" in TARDIS stand for?

2 Which flamboyant French fashion designer brought some extra continental mischief to Channel 4 as a co-host of Eurotrash?

3 Joan Hooley and Charles Tingwell were among the medical staff clocking in for which pioneering British hospital soap, broadcast from 1957 to 1967?

4 Before Ted Danson became one of sitcom's most familiar faces, his character Sam Malone was pulling pints as the owner of which famous Boston bar?

5 Eleven, Mike, Dustin and the gang spend their childhood battling monsters rather more troublesome than the average school bully in which fictional Indiana town in Stranger Things?

6 The BBC family drama The A Word takes its title from the diagnosis received by young Joe Hughes — what does the "A" stand for?

7 After tackling Britain's grubbier homes in How Clean Is Your House?, Kim Woodburn and Aggie MacKenzie turned their attention to personal hygiene in which spin-off series?

8 Before becoming successful series in their own right, Rumpole of the Bailey and The Blackstuff, which led to Boys from the Blackstuff, first appeared in which celebrated BBC anthology strand?

9 Honor Blackman, Diana Rigg, Linda Thorson and Joanna Lumley were jointly honoured with a special BAFTA in 2000 for their roles in which classic British television series?

10 Before becoming a Hollywood heavyweight, Idris Elba made his mark in The Wire — but which formidable character did he play?

11 Daenerys Targaryen earned the title Mother of Dragons — but which infamous Targaryen king was her father?

12 As Walter White descends deeper into Albuquerque's criminal underworld in Breaking Bad, which notorious alias does he adopt?

1 ? In Doctor Who, the Doctor's famous blue police box is officially a TARDIS — but what does the "T" in TARDIS stand for?

Time

TARDIS stands for Time And Relative Dimension In Space. Despite looking like a humble police box outside, its interior has enough room to make most estate agents very excited.

2 ? Which flamboyant French fashion designer brought some extra continental mischief to Channel 4 as a co-host of Eurotrash?

Jean-Paul Gaultier

Gaultier co-hosted Eurotrash alongside Antoine de Caunes, bringing his unmistakable French accent, outrageous fashion and plenty of cheekiness to British late-night television.

3 ? Joan Hooley and Charles Tingwell were among the medical staff clocking in for which pioneering British hospital soap, broadcast from 1957 to 1967?

Emergency – Ward 10

Emergency – Ward 10 was one of Britain's earliest television soap operas and became a huge hit, at one point attracting audiences of around 24 million viewers.

4 ? Before Ted Danson became one of sitcom's most familiar faces, his character Sam Malone was pulling pints as the owner of which famous Boston bar?

Cheers

The bar where "everybody knows your name" was fictional, but Boston's real-life Bull & Finch Pub inspired its exterior and became a tourist attraction thanks to the show.

5 ? Eleven, Mike, Dustin and the gang spend their childhood battling monsters rather more troublesome than the average school bully in which fictional Indiana town in Stranger Things?

Hawkins

Hawkins may be fictional, but much of Stranger Things was filmed in Georgia, with the town of Jackson providing several recognisable locations.

6 ? The BBC family drama The A Word takes its title from the diagnosis received by young Joe Hughes — what does the "A" stand for?

Autism

The A Word was adapted from the Israeli television drama Yellow Peppers and was largely filmed amid the spectacular scenery of England's Lake District.

7 ? After tackling Britain's grubbier homes in How Clean Is Your House?, Kim Woodburn and Aggie MacKenzie turned their attention to personal hygiene in which spin-off series?

Too Posh to Wash

Too Posh to Wash saw Kim and Aggie investigating the hygiene habits of Britain's upper classes — including one memorable participant who admitted she had never washed her bra.

8 ? Before becoming successful series in their own right, Rumpole of the Bailey and The Blackstuff, which led to Boys from the Blackstuff, first appeared in which celebrated BBC anthology strand?

Play for Today

Play for Today ran from 1970 to 1984 and broadcast more than 300 individual television dramas, several of which went on to spawn full series.

9 ? Honor Blackman, Diana Rigg, Linda Thorson and Joanna Lumley were jointly honoured with a special BAFTA in 2000 for their roles in which classic British television series?

The Avengers

BAFTA's special award brought together four of The Avengers' famous leading ladies — Honor Blackman, Diana Rigg, Linda Thorson and Joanna Lumley — to celebrate the cult series and its formidable female stars.

10 ? Before becoming a Hollywood heavyweight, Idris Elba made his mark in The Wire — but which formidable character did he play?

Stringer Bell

Idris Elba was so convincing as Baltimore drug kingpin Stringer Bell that plenty of American viewers were surprised to discover he was actually from London.

11 ? Daenerys Targaryen earned the title Mother of Dragons — but which infamous Targaryen king was her father?

Aerys II Targaryen / The Mad King

Aerys II earned the nickname "The Mad King" and was killed by Jaime Lannister — which is how Jaime acquired the rather less flattering nickname "Kingslayer".

12 ? As Walter White descends deeper into Albuquerque's criminal underworld in Breaking Bad, which notorious alias does he adopt?

Heisenberg

Walter chose Heisenberg after physicist Werner Heisenberg, famous for the uncertainty principle — although Walt eventually became rather certain about being terrifying.

